Come to the Festival!

The Bellbrook Lions Club Festival will be held at the old Sugarcreek Elementary School in downtown Bellbrook. All proceeds from the festival return to the community in the form of local projects, scholarships, or other donations the Lions Club makes throughout the year. The theme for this year's festival is "Coming Home" with the parade Grand Marshal being among the oldest military veterans in the community. The parade Grand Marshal will be Jim Martin, World War II veteran. This is a great opportunity for community members to reconnect just before the start of school. The festival is considered a "homecoming" as it allows longtime residents, those who have moved away, and new residents to connect in a family environment and support local service projects.

The amusement rides will be available all three nights with an armband special to allow continuous riding for the evening. Full dinners are available each evening with other meal items available at Lions trailers. The annual raffle will be a cash prize of $10,000, so buy your tickets from a Bellbrook Lion for your chance at this prize. If you have not attended the Lions Festival before, please consider coming this year to support the Bellbrook Lions Club.

Winters Bellbrook Community Library

The library is committed to helping parents help their children with early literacy skills. Did you know? Early literacy begins with you! It's never too early or too late to help your child develop language and other early literacy skills.

Why is it important for children to get ready to read before they start school? Children who enter kindergarten with pre-reading skills have an advantage. They can focus on learning to read instead of learning essential pre-reading skills. Children who start kindergarten ready to read have greater success throughout their school years.*

You can help your child get ready to read with simple activities every day. Five of the best ways are: talking, singing, reading, writing, and playing.

The Library is an excellent resource to support you as your child's first teacher. You can find picture books, music, story times, and the expertise of your local librarian.

Check out our new books and lots of fun programs coming up this fall at www.greenelibrary.info. Discover. Learn. Grow. At YOUR library!

Bellbrook Garden Club

A big thanks goes out to all who attended the Bellbrook Garden Club's annual plant sale in May. It was a big success as they made over $2,500. Proceeds from the sale allow them to support the community through scholarships for students attending Bellbrook Sugarcreek Schools and other community projects.

They continue to beautify the Old Village area, museum, and library with planters and gardens. Members take turns caring and weeding these areas for your enjoyment.

Two of the Club's members won honors at the local Trinity Flower Show in the artistic category. Mary Lou Boudinot received a blue ribbon and Best of Show, while Carol McNabb won two second place red ribbons.

Second, we have hired Janet Alison, our first curator, to add expertise to the museum experience. Janet will be available to help guide visitors through the Museum as well as assist in research and related activities. Third, the Museum has procured a substantial grant from the Bellbrook Sugarcreek Historical Society that will enable us to upgrade and enhance our lighting throughout the entire facility, including the Crowl Funeral Building. And last, but certainly not least, the Rotating Exhibit Room is proud to present a new exhibit, Tools of the Trade, a retrospective of the tools that shaped our lives in the late 19th century. City Council Updates

Charter Review Commission During the first half of 2013, 16 Bellbrook residents met at a series of public meetings as the Charter Review Commission. The purpose of the Commission was to review the City Charter and recommend changes to City Council. On June 10th, the Commission delivered their report to Council. The proposed changes can be found in the Recommended Revised Charter on the website. On July 22nd, Council decided to place these recommended changes on the ballot. Voters will be asked to cast their ballot on the changes in November. To view the recommended changes, visit our website at www.cityofbellbrook.org.

Unpaid Water Bills Until May of this year, current property owners were responsible for unpaid water bills of previous owners. Council changed the water ordinance to place the responsibility on the owner of the property when the water was used.

Solicitation Ordinance In July, Council approved an updated Peddlers, Solicitors and Canvassers ordinance. This update is to keep the City's regulations current with recent case law. See below for more information on the new solicitation regulations.

Annual Wage Increase Following Council approval in July, most City employees received a 2% wage increase effective August 1st. This wage increase was included in the 2013 budget. In addition to the wage increase, employee wage scales were also adjusted to remain consistent with other local governments.

Traffic and General Offenses Codes After a thorough review by the Police Department and the City Prosecutor, several sections of the traffic and general offenses codes were repealed by Council. The sections removed either duplicated existing State laws or were no longer needed.

Municipal and Zoning Code Highlights

Solicitation

The laws regulating solicitors in the City of Bellbrook were recently updated by City Council. The previous laws were approved nearly 40 years ago. The new regulations were written after receiving comments from residents and reviewing recent judicial cases.

The new regulations attempt to strike a balance between personal property rights and free speech. A distinction is made between a solicitor (commercial activity) and a canvasser (non-commercial activity).

Solicitors are required to be licensed by the City. The licensing process includes an application with specific identifying information and a background check conducted by the Bellbrook Police Department. The license issued by the City must be carried and displayed by the solicitor.

Residents who do not want solicitors to knock on their door can have a sign posted stating, "No Peddlers, Solicitors, or Canvassers Invited" or other similar language.

Any resident who believes that these regulations are being violated is encouraged to call the Bellbrook Police Department. The full solicitation regulations can be found on the City's website at www.cityofbellbrook.org.

City Council Authorizes Contract with Greene Central for Dispatch Services

On June 17, 2013 City Council passed a resolution authorizing the City Manager to enter into a contract for dispatch services. This decision was made by Council after nearly 18 months of discussions, review, and deliberations. The Bellbrook dispatch operation has consistently provided excellent services to our residents for many years. However, with resources from the State of Ohio being reduced or eliminated (i.e. local government funds, estate taxes, etc.) and additional property taxes not approved by the electorate, the City made the difficult decision to cease local dispatch operations effective September 14, 2013.

The City has entered into an agreement with the City of Xenia to participate in their dispatch operations known as Greene Central. Sugarcreek Township has also entered into this agreement with Xenia. This cooperative effort will save both the City and Township considerable money over the coming years. In addition to Bellbrook, Sugarcreek and Xenia, Greene Central also provides dispatch services to the Greene County Sheriff's Department, several township fire departments and several village and university law enforcement agencies. Greene Central has been in operation since 1989.

The agreement calls for the City of Xenia, through its management of the Xenia/Greene Central Communications Center, to begin providing 9-1-1 call answering, public safety dispatch, and communications services in September. Xenia will expand its center and increase its active console stations from four to five to cover the added jurisdictions. Bellbrook and Sugarcreek will move to phase out their independent dispatch centers. Up to four dispatchers currently employed by Bellbrook and Sugarcreek will be eligible for administrative transfers to help fill the newly created positions within Xenia/Greene Central. Contract partners acknowledge the operational benefit of incorporating dispatchers with practical experience and knowledge of the new jurisdictions being served by Xenia's communications center.

The transition to Greene Central is scheduled to occur during the week of September 15th. Resident's 9-1-1 and non-emergency telephone access will not be interrupted. In case of an emergency, residents are strongly encouraged to call 9-1-1. For non-emergency matters, residents can still call (937) 848-8484 to speak with a dispatcher. During and after the transition, residents will likely hear different people when they call dispatch – please remember that these dispatchers are here to help you.

Finally, City Council would like to take this opportunity to thank the dedicated dispatchers that have worked for the City. The most difficult part of the decision making process was acknowledging that the City would be losing quality employees.

Please contact City Manager Mark Schlagheck at (937) 848-4666 or m.schlagheck@cityofbellbrook if you have any questions, concerns or comments.

When You Call for the Paramedics

With the transition of dispatching services, our Bellbrook Fire & EMS will begin to provide medical information and pre-arrival instructions over the phone utilizing a concept known as Emergency Medical Dispatch or EMD.

The Greene Central Communications Center utilizes the highly recognized International Academies of Emergency Dispatch Priority Dispatch system. It is a system that uses key questions to quickly prioritize medical emergencies. The system allows dispatchers to give the caller instructions to assist sick or injured persons until help arrives. Dispatchers may give relatively simple instructions, for example, to control bleeding with direct pressure, or very advanced instruction such as the step-by-step procedure to administer CPR. The dispatcher who takes the initial call remains on the phone when pre-arrival instructions are necessary while another dispatcher will quickly and properly determine the nature and priority of the call and dispatches the appropriate response resources. Additional communications of any information the caller gives is forwarded to the Paramedics until the responding Emergency Medical Service equipment and personnel arrive.

Callers to 9-1-1 requiring medical assistance should remain patient and make every effort to answer the questions being asked by the dispatcher to ensure that proper assistance and resources are sent to their location.

The Fire Escape

The Works: Right-Of-Way

What is the Public Right-Of-Way?

The public right-of-way, also referred to as the R.O.W., is the land on which the streets are located, including land on both sides of the street. In most residential areas, the right-of-way extends 10 feet from the edge of the pavement.

Purpose of the Right-Of-Way

- ◆ Can be used for public improvements.
- ◆ Contains street signs, fire hydrants, storm sewers both underground and open ditch, sidewalks, and driveway approaches.
- ◆ May be used for public utilities such as water lines and sanitary sewer lines.
- ◆ Gives the City the ability to assure proper sight distance for both pedestrians and motorists.

Public Right-of-Way Maintenance

Property owners are required to maintain the public right-of-way along any road frontage. Maintenance includes lawn mowing, tree trimming, maintaining driveway approaches, and sidewalks.

- ◆ Do not plant bushes or trees close to the street.
- ◆ Do not install sprinkler systems in the right-of-way.
- ◆ Do not place electric pet fences in the right-of-way.
- ◆ Do not place a garage sale or for sale sign in the right-of-way.

Any work done in the right-of-way by a resident or contractor must be reported to the City. This ensures the work does not infringe on public safety or accessibility.

For questions or concerns please contact Dale Wilson, Service Department Director, at (937) 848-8415, or Eileen Minamy, Zoning Inspector, at (937) 848-8477.

Household Hazardous Wastes

Household cleaners, pesticides, paints, solvents...When it comes to home toxics, it pays to think small.

Purchasing the jumbo size container might seem like a great way to save money, but home toxics carry a hidden cost: proper storage and disposal. Special care must be taken to protect you, your family and the environment from accidental poisoning and contamination.

Shop smart. Plan your projects out in advance. Purchase only the amount of product needed to get the job done. You won't end up having to store or dispose of unused toxics.

Did you know that many household products are dangerous to our kids, pets, and the environment?

These materials pollute our waterways if washed or dumped into storm drains or roadside ditches that lead directly to our lakes and rivers. Household cleaners, pesticides, gasoline, antifreeze, used motor oil, and other hazardous products need to be labeled, stored, and disposed of properly.

So what can you do? Simple.

- ◆ Be aware of household products that can harm children, pets, and the environment. Pay attention to words such as "warning" or "caution" on product labels.
- ◆ Reduce waste and save money by purchasing only the materials you need.
- ◆ Keep unused products in their original containers with labels.
- ◆ Never dump hazardous products down storm drains, roadside ditches, sinks, or on the ground.

Take household hazardous waste products to the Greene County Environmental Services collection day held the second Saturday of every month from 9 AM to 12 PM at 2415 Greene Way Blvd in Xenia. For more information, contact the Greene County Environmental Services office at (937) 562-5925.
