Introduction

This book is the product of an Eagle Scout project from Boy Scout Troop 375. Due to the age of the stones, some stones are difficult to read. As a result, some headstones could not be identified and some errors in the locations of the stones may be present. Entries with no picture signify that this person's gravestone could not be found or identified, or that this person is buried in a family plot with one collective stone.

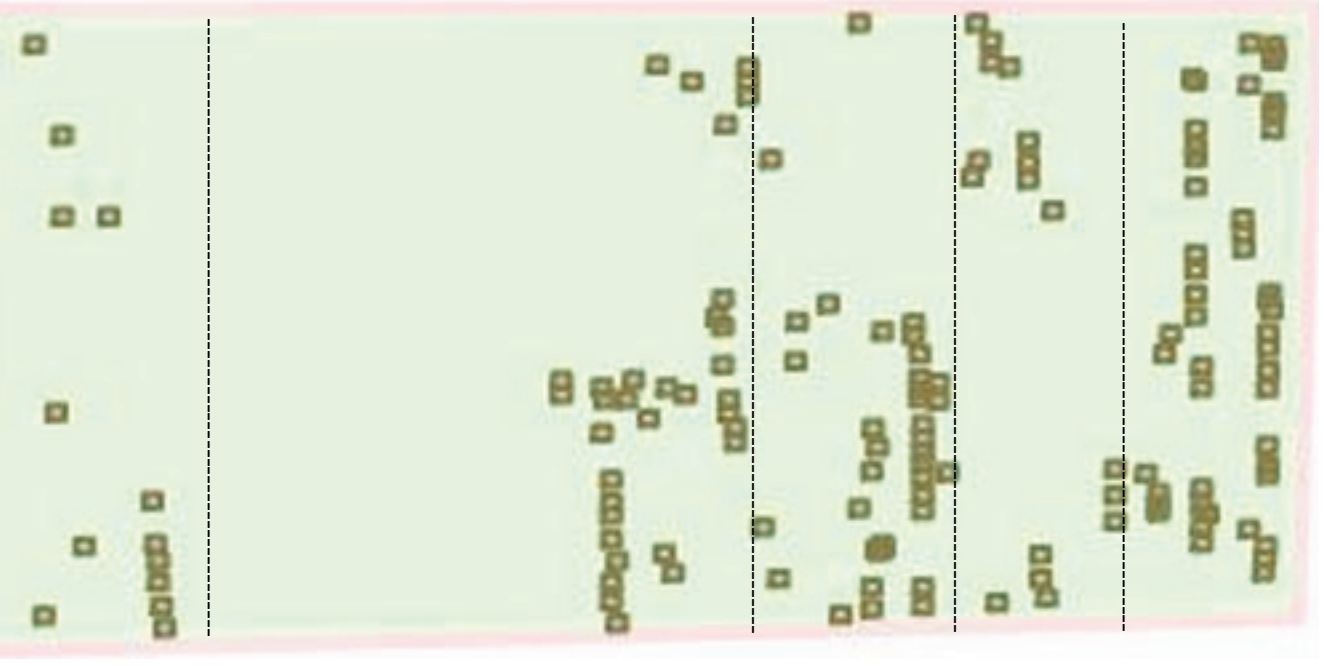

The gravestones in the Pioneer Cemetery are not laid in regular lines. In showing the location of the stones, priority was given to the other stones near the burial site, instead of the exact location. This makes it easy to "trace" down the map once one nearby stone can be identified.

If you are interested in the Pioneer Cemetery, consider visiting the cemetery, located on Upper Bellbrook Road. Please be careful near the gravestones so that they can be preserved for future generations.

To use the Names In Stone website, you can search for a particular person or view the cemetery. Use the search function on the main page to do so. Make sure to choose "Bellbrook Pioneer Cemetery" instead of "Pioneer Cemetery." Once you're viewing the cemetery, you can click on a gravestone to bring up information and a picture. Click on the picture to see the full-size version.
